

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT.

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky as second class mailable matter.

GEORGE A. LEWIS.

Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, NOVEMBER 11, 1882.

A blue pencil mark (X) on your paper indicates that your subscription has not been paid for some time, and you are requested to settle at once.

Secure your Thanksgiving turkeys in time.

Mr. H. S. Banta has leased the Walker Stephens place, on the Louisville pike, and will shortly remove to it.

The sidewalk from this city to Taylorton is an assured fact. The amount has been subscribed and the work will be done in a short time.

Mr. John A. Graves, of this city, but formerly of Union county, and Miss Corn M. Wilkerson, of this county, eloped from this city Wednesday afternoon and were married at his sister's in Louisville. It seems that Mr. Graves was quite a ladies man and had engaged himself to another young lady in this city who had made her arrangements to marry him next week. It was doubtless a cruel disappointment to her, but she can congratulate herself upon having made so narrow an escape from being tied for life to so feeble a creature.

The following is the vote for Congressmen in this county on Tuesday:

	BLACKBURN.	ASBURY.
Benson.....	26	1
Peck's Mill.....	165	2
Fork's Elkhorn.....	100	33
Bloomington.....	41	...
Bridgeport.....	44	8
Cedar Run.....	85	...
Court House.....	255	156
Gas House.....	136	244
	852	444

At Benson one vote was cast for W. H. Sneed and at the Court House one for Rodman. The votes at the Market House precinct were thrown out for the reason that the officers of election in that precinct, after counting the ballots, burned them instead of placing them in the box and sealing it up as required by law. The vote there stood, Blackburn, 172; Asbury, 158.

A Frankfort Dispatch says: "Two men of the Nucleus Guards were wounded."

Why not give their names and the location and character of the wound?—Covington Commonwealth 6th Inst.

"Their names and the location and character of their wounds" were given in the Louisville Commercial and Courier Journal of the 3d instant and in both the papers of this city on the 4th inst. If you are anxious to know, however, we will give them again:

Corporal Duncan Holmes was slightly wounded in the face by a buck-shot grazing his cheek.

Private Lewis Scott was struck near the crown of his head by a buck-shot, which buried itself under the scalp, and the end of the second finger of his left hand was shot off by the same sort of missile.

The boy on the wharf boat, who fired his little pistol in the air, of course wounded them; not the "wild boys" on the ferryboat, oh, no! They were not armed.

A new floor has been laid in the engine house and the stalls have been brought into the back part of the west room of the building and arranged so that the horses face the street, and when an alarm is given by simply pulling a rope a lattice gate in front of each stall is thrown open, the horses are released from their halters, and run to their place. This is very much more convenient than the old arrangement when a large door at the rear of the building as well as the stall doors had to be opened in order to allow the horses to come in, and they do not have so far to go in order to reach their positions. The old stable has been turned into a receptacle for feed, room for which was very much needed heretofore. The Chief has had a register placed in the centre of the building bearing the names of each man employed to remain at the house, and when all are there the names are covered by slides, but when one wishes to leave he is required to pull out the slide over his name and take it with him, and while his name remains uncovered no one else is allowed to leave.

There will be an open meeting of the Good Templars at their hall, in Odd Fellows Temple, next Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock. Good speeches, good music, and a good time. Everybody is invited.

Messrs. A. H. and R. K. McClure have sold the large brick dwelling house on Main street, known as the Price property, to Messrs. W. A. Gaines & Co., for $6,500 cash. Messrs. Gaines & Co. will tear it away in the spring and erect a large warehouse and office on its site.

The most complete stock of heating and cooking stoves to be seen in the city is at John T. Buckley's. He has recently enlarged his store-room which enables him to make a handsome display of his stock, and he has some beautiful goods. Mr. Buckley will hereafter remain in the house all the time himself and all the job work left there will receive prompt attention, as he makes that branch of his business a specialty. His terms will be strictly cash in future.

Mr. W. T. Runyan has just received from Messrs. Brainard, Armstrong & Co., of Philadelphia, one of the neatest cases for holding spool silk we have ever seen. It is of elegant carved walnut, the drawers being glass front, and is filled with spools of silk and twist of all sizes and of every conceivable shade. In the centre is a large mirror and in the top is a nice little clock ticking away. It is a handsome piece of furniture and will supply the ladies with some of the prettiest thread they ever ran through the eye of a needle.

V. Berberich, the S. Clair street tailor, is making the best fitting suits for the lowest cash prices.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's father, on October 28, Mr. John H. Reddish and Miss Mary Taylor, daughter of Thompson Taylor, Esq.

DIED.

In Richmond, Va., on the 1st, MARGARETTA GUTMAN, daughter of John M. and Lizelle H. Lewis, in the second year of her age.

"Mourn not, mother, cease those bitter tears to shed;

Why shouldst thou for the happy and the blessed weep;

Thy little baby surely is not dead;

But resteth in a quiet holy sleep;

Sickness and pain can rack her little form no more;

With her the trials of a sinful world are o'er.

"She tasted but enough of this cold heartless world;

Even just enough of sickness, pain were given;

That when her spirit had its angel wings unfurled

Might know how sweet it is to dwell in Heaven;

Oh! she but learned by pain how sweet the rest

With which all born to Heaven shall be forever blessed."

"I know 'twas hard for thee from thy dear babe to part;

"The flesh indeed is weak"—it cost thee many a tear;

I know it sorely tried thy tender heart;

"Tis a hard trial for a mother's heart to bear;

The Lord who gave her to thee did but take the same;

Canst thou not say, 'and ever blessed be His name?'"

C. H. Bronson, Louisville, says: "I tried Brown's Iron Bitters to tone my system, and found it exactly what I wanted."
